THE EATCHU DIFFERENCE

Most gyoza in UK restaurants are bought not made. Shipped in and distributed wholesale, they are a cheap and cheerful ingredient for Asian restaurants. As the customer you are probably getting a portion of 5 (or 4, or even 3), without much in the way of dressing. You may notice that they are not very well filled, that there's a lot of dough to make up the weight, and the flavour is a little lacking.

At Eatchu, every single gyoza you eat is made from scratch by us right here in Bristol. They are bursting with filling, covered in all manner of delicious sauces and toppings, and they're always served as a healthy portion of 6 or more. And we are STILL better value than most of the competition, something we regularly check. We hope you love them as much as we do x
